Institutional Values and Best Practices

7.1 Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities

Falakata College, established in 1981 and affiliated to North Bengal University, is recognized under sections 2f & 12B of the UGC. This college was founded to cater to the demands of higher education among the economically and academically disadvantaged local people in an underprivileged territory of the formerly undivided district of Jalpaiguri and presently in the district of Alipurdwar of West Bengal. Falakata is an agriculture-based area and most of the population belongs to backward classes. Since its inception, the college has been continuously endeavouring towards its vision foreseen by its founding members to empower the socially and economically marginalised masses of this area by offering opportunities for quality education.

The consolidated gender audit of Falakata College from 2018-2023 provides a broader spectrum of issues related to gender sensitivity, gender discrimination, gender stereotyping, gender equality and how the promulgated approaches regarding the classification of gender have helped in the overall understanding of it. Educational institutions believe in gender equality thereby providing a better ambience for students. Falakata College is no exception in this regard. As a form of holistic measure, the College initiates certain measures and approaches through which the students voice their opinions freely about gender. For the promotion of gender equity, Falakata College has organised seminars and talks and has initiated activities related to gender equity and gender sensitization.
